GEORGE ELLISTON (Renowned Ky. Poet)

By John C. Waters
Miss George Elliston, a widely renowned Kentucky poet, hailed from Mt. Sterling, Kentucky. She is the daughter, and only child, of the late Joseph Elliston, a prominent attorney at that place, who later practiced law in Covington. Miss Elliston grew up as a popular young girl, with her eyes so open that none of nature's beauties escaped them. She graduated from high school there, and read law with her father, but never with the serious thought of practicing it. She won a number of prizes in school for poems, and her graduation essay "Onward", was a song rhyming poem.

EMULSIFICATION

JUST as emulsification of the butter-fat in milk makes milk one of our most easily digested foods, so emulsification improves the taste and digestibility of the pure cod-liver oil.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

It's the reason that millions of children and grownups prefer it to all other forms of cod-liver oil. Be sure the cod-liver oil you use is emulsified—that it's Scott's Emulsion.

Her first volume, "Every Day But a Day", came out in 1923. The book went through its first edition in a month, and has continued to be a good seller since that time.

Her second book, "Changing Moods", came out in 1923, and is somewhat more serious than her first volume.

In 1924 she came out with a third volume, "Through Many Windows".

Her fourth, and her first National book, "Cinderella Caravan", came out in Easter, 1925, with George Lully and Company of New York. When her book reached England, her publishers were appraised of the fact that England wanted her poems too. The publishers have just sold fourteen of the lyrics of the new-est George Elliston book, for serialisation in Great Britain.

Her verses have been syndicated in a number of leading dailies, since 1924. The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin being the largest.

Miss Elliston has a nation wide reputation. Her poems are radio broadcast from Cincinnati, Ohio. Sketches of her life may be found in "Who's Who in America", 1926-27, "Illustrated", 1926, and "Who's Who in Journalism". Her poems have been published in the Literary Digest, on greeting cards, on motto cards, sung on phonograph records, and are translated in many foreign languages.

Miss Elliston is society editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star. She has composed some of her best poems while walking across the long bridge from Covington to Cincinnati each morning to her work.

She is enjoying unusual success in her work and may be remaining years of usefulness to many.

Mr. and Mrs. Towery have many friends here who wish them much happiness.

Sommers Declines to Seek Senate Seat

Elizabethtown, Ky., March 1.—Harry A. Sommers, veteran editor of the Elizabethtown News, today declined to be a candidate for the short term of the United States Senate in a letter to a committee which had sought to draft him for the race.

Mr. Sommers said he was "an old fashioned Democrat who believed that the office should seek the man rather than the man seeking the office." He expressed confidence of a Democratic victory in the race.

Homemakers Notes

The Kirksey Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Herbert McColston February 16th.

The members present were Mrs. Elmus Carson, Mrs. J. V. Stark, Mrs. Hugh Gingles, Mrs. Deula Sanders, Mrs. Jim Washer, Mrs. Ray Jones, Mrs. Jessa Marline, Mrs. Edie Morris, Mrs. Parker Harrell, Mrs. Herbert McColston, Miss Mary Reid and Mrs. Claude Lawrence; one visitor, Mrs. Wes Shelton and Miss Wilgus our Home Demonstrator also were present.

The major subject for the meeting "Analysis of House and Home" was discussed by Miss Wilgus. She also gave a short discussion on "Vegetable Cookery".

Our social program was conducted by Mrs. J. V. Stark, which was beneficial as well as interesting and was enjoyed by all.

Our next monthly meeting will be held at Mrs. Virgil Clark's on March 16th.

All members are urged to attend.—Mrs. Claude Lawrence, secretary.

Finger Prints Found in Purdom Store

The discovery Friday of finger prints on the wall of Bert Purdom's store afforded a direct clue to officers working toward the identification of the thief who stole overalls, food, flour, cigars, candy and implements worth $500 from the store here Monday night of last week.

Prints of the robber's hand, which evidently had been dipped in flour, revealed that he had two fingers missing and one crooked finger.

GREENS USED BUTTER AS A COSMETIC

The "ultra smart" among the ladies and "housewives" as a 450 B. C. used butter as a hair dressing and a cosmetic. The Hindus offered it as the greatest and holiest of sacrifices in their worship. The Macedonians used butter as an ointment after bathing. In Spain as late as the seventeenth century, butter fat was found in the medicine shops advocated for external use only. In rural districts of Germany today, fresh unsalted butter is much used as a cooling salve for burns.

Enlightened by advances in the field of nutrition, we use butter at the present time as one of the healthiest of the natural foods. Vitamin A, which is found so plentifully in butter, is not only important in bone-building, but is also important in cell-building; this makes butter such a necessary food for the growing child, states the National Dairy Council.

ANALYZE THE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR USED CAR

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must make up the difference by extra charges on the new car or re-sell it to some one else at too high a price

PERMANENT value is always better than a temporary bargain in the purchase of an automobile. It pays to look ahead and consider reliability and ultimate up-keep costs, as well as comfort, safety, speed, and beauty of line and color.

Since most automobiles are bought for replacement, the value set on your used car is a factor in almost every purchase. Frequently it is given an importance beyond its true worth.

Used cars have a definite market value and you are justly entitled to an allowance based on that value. It is not fair that you receive less. It is not to your best interests to receive more.

You may not get the largest used-car allowance from the Ford dealer, but that very fact should give you confidence that you are receiving full value in the new car. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on your old car.

Because there is no waste, extravagance or undue profit in manufacturing, distribution or selling, every dollar you pay for a Ford brings a full dollar in return. In lower first cost, in reliability and long life, in the low cost of operation, service and replacement parts, the Ford will save you much more than the seeming difference in trade allowance.

IF a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must either re-sell it to some one else at too high a price or make up the difference on the new car. This he cannot do unless he is allowed an excessive profit on the car or on financing, extra equipment and other charges. In either case, you pay the bill, for no way has yet been found to give something for nothing. The money must come from somewhere.

FURTHERMORE, at least $75 extra value is given to you in the new Ford in the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the five steel-spoke wheels, and the four Houdaille hydraulic double-acting shock absorbers. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings, and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings, are other features that show the extra quality built into the Ford car.

Roadster, $435	Pheton, $440	Tudor Sedan, $500	Conpe, $500	Sport Conpe, $530

Finish The Job

The splendid responses to the recent drives for the completion of the receiving vault in the city cemetery, sponsored by the Masonic Club, and for the erection of a memorial to the late Nathan B. Stubblefield, are indicative of the inherent generosity of Murray's citizens. Two campaigns for community funds at the same time had the result of somewhat depressing the effectiveness of each, but altogether more than $1,500 was raised; most of it in cash, for these two praiseworthy projects.

Two-thirds of this amount, or about a thousand dollars, was given to the vault fund but there remains almost another thousand dollars to be procured before these good women are justified in authorizing the contract or to proceed.

This is one job that should be finished at the earliest possible moment. The money is in the vault and the vault is in the city. It is to be hoped that the citizens of this community will lend their enthusiastic aid immediately so that the vault may be recommissioned and added to the growing list of Murray's civic achievements.

Helping Themselves

The Ledger & Times was very much interested in the announcement in last week's news letter from Lynn Grove that the community had decided to extend its graded school term six weeks through a unity of effort on the part of the school board, the faculty and the citizens. This is somewhat unusual and certainly calls for the warmest approval of such community spirit and energy.

According to the plan which was agreed upon, the teachers are to receive two weeks of service, the pupils will pay the small fee of seven cents each and the board of education will pay the remaining expenses, being enabled to do the job efficiently and economically in administering its school funds.

It is such actions as this that make Calloway county one of the highest ranking counties educationally in the state of Kentucky and it is such communities as this that make it one of the best all-around counties in the commonwealth.

With a state highway leading to one of the best high schools in the state at Murray only six miles away, it would have been very easy and unexcusable for the citizens of Lynn Grove to have done away with the expense of their home school and sent their children to the state school.

But their desire to sacrifice for an unexcelled institution of their own and go so far as to exert additional and unexpected effort for an extra measure of service to their children is the stuff that makes a real, livable community in every sense of the word.

All credit to Lynn Grove for a good deed well done.

Our Excellent Contemporaries

For some time the excellence of the high school papers in Calloway county has been noted and The Ledger & Times has intended paying them a deserved compliment as well as expressing a natural pride in the typographical work of those which are the products of our own.

Giving credit where credit is due, there is no question but that their high standards reflect upon the efficacy of the journalism course at the Murray State Teachers College, which is ably directed by Prof. L. J. Horton. Practically all of the faculty sponsors of these school papers received their journalistic training under Mr. Horton and their publications demonstrate the value of the lessons he has taught them.

It is doubtful whether any county in Kentucky has more estimable school papers than Calloway. Murray, Hazel, Kirksey, and now Lynn Grove, have issued publications of the highest type; worthy of the best principles of journalism and rules of publication. That their efforts have been invaluable in the county is a certainty.

Some of these papers have felt that the Ledger & Times is jealous of the advertising they have secured for their support but such is not the case. Not only is the Ledger & Times glad to see these high school papers receive the support of the local merchant but also it believes that such advertising is a good investment for the merchant.

This newspaper welcomes these publications as brothers in the profession and appreciates to the fullest the good work they are doing in the progress of Calloway county.

Thirty-five thousand apple tree grafts were made or purchased in one month in Perry county, where there is much interest in fruit growing. Junior 4-H Club members will set 10 to 15 acres of grafts.

JUST JOTS

By Joe

The 1930 general assembly will go down in history as the "ripper" legislature. But in this instance it will not carry opportunity but a laurel wreath for Democrats who had the backbone to obey the voice of their people and not fear responsibility and the loss of a party election.

Unfortunately this columnist will only be the last requirement. The Florida Times-Union says in order to write good paragraphs, a shortliner must be glad, gloomy, sad, postical, pleading, sarcastic, witty, affable, and about half nutty.

The Literary Digest is planning a straw vote on prohibition. In this instance it might be termed a corn shuck vote that will show the direction from which the response smells comes.

The only persons who will be sorry when the legislature adjourns will be the legislators.

Anyways, look of the advice they have to put up with during the fifty days they are in session.

There used to be an old injunction to the bride-room to treat your wife as you do your mother. But no wife would dare to treat her father as she does her husband.

Goose eggs are as palatable and nourishing as hen eggs. But alert and advertise-wise hen gets all the business while Mr. Goose goes without. Which is probably the reason why a goose is a goose.

March didn't come in like a lamb but made more of the early spring prophets look sheepish.

Editor Olds Tells 'Em Some Truths

About a year ago a certain Benton business man was asked to use the advertising columns of this newspaper. With a nose pointing upward he said, "Nobody reads the paper."

In our issue of February 7 we published a list of unclaimed letters in the Benton postoffice supposed to contain tobacco checks. These letters the postoffice officials were unable to deliver for various reasons. The assistant postmaster tells us that from the printing of these names in the Tribune-Democrat most of the letters have since been delivered. Yet "nobody reads the paper."

Last week we published an uncomplimentary want ad way down near the bottom of the column offering 25 cents for a copy of the Tribune-Democrat of January 10. Hardly had the paper been delivered when a nice young lady from one of the routes came in with the desired copy and departed with a smile on her face and two bits in her hand. We asked for but one copy but several were offered. Yet somebody reads the paper.

Ikey and Rachel were on their honeymoon trip and the train was some time passing through a dark tunnel. On emerging into the light Rachel told Ikey, "You

Unintentional Suicide

Many people are slowly poisoning themselves just as surely as if they drank poison every morning for breakfast. They are daily absorbing the toxins of poison, created by accumulated waste matter in their congested digestive systems. Sooner or later disease will conquer their weakened bodies.

If you have dizzy spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, indigestion, appetite, bilious attacks or pains in the back and limbs, you are probably suffering from self poisoning caused by constipation. The smart and pleasant relief for this condition is Herbs, the vegetable cathartic which acts in the natural way. Get a bottle today from Dale, Stubblefield & Co.

mused up my hair when you kissed me in the dark. Ikey replied, "I didn't kiss you." "Well," said Rachel, "nobody reads the paper."

And yet the bird who wouldn't advertise because "nobody reads the paper," wants us to publish and chain-store propaganda. Why should we if "nobody reads the paper?" —Benton-Tribune-Democrat.

A Disappointed Tobacco Grower

My tobacco was smooth and fine. And the fiber was hard to see. And the weight was as much per acre.

As we might expect it to be. So I says to myself with joy, My debts will all be paid. As soon as I can get to market. And have this mullen weighed.

I'll get the kids all Sunday shoes and the wife an elegant gown. And all this stuff we'll buy in the nearest old home town.

So we loaded up the wagons and pulled it through the mud. The taxes we had paid. Didn't do a lot of good.

We got to town at last. And unloaded all this weed. Now we'll watch the sales awhile. And then we'll get a feed.

We'll get a tender roast. And a piece of mince pie, too. This was before the sales. When we promised what we'd do.

We'll get a nice new haircut. We'll get a shiny shine. We'll have the barber shave us. We'll have a real good time.

We watched the sales an hour. And it made us kinder blue. We canceled that big feed. A bowl of soup will do.

We watched a little longer. And forgot about the haircut. We didn't get the soup. To fill our hungry gut.

The debts will have to hang. With only interest paid. The wife and kids will wait. Till another crop is made.

Next summer when the lizards crawl. And old banner's shining hot. We'll write to Sears and Roebuck. For the cheapest they have got.

We don't endorse this kind of trading. Any more than you. But when a fellow's in a strain. You can't tell what he'll do. A Tobacco Raiser.

DRAINS LAND FOR TOBACCO

Installing tile drainage at a cost of $45 an acre, John Phillips, a Carter county farmer, harvested 1,100 pounds of cured tobacco to the acre from 3 1/2 acres last year.

The crop averaged 33 cents a pound, or $253 an acre. The land usually was too wet to produce a full crop previous to the installation of tile. The system should give efficient service for many years, according to agricultural engineers at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, who advised with Mr. Phillips regarding draining the land.

A LIME HONOR ROLL

The College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky announces an honor roll for farmers who lime 75 per cent of their tillable land. Farms must contain at least 50 acres of tillable land which means any hill land that can be plowed. The minimum amount of lime materials that can be used to the acre are 1,000 pounds of fresh burned lime, 1,500 pounds of hydrated lime, 2,000 pounds of ground limestone and 4,000 pounds of marl.

Thanks, Awfully, Colonel Lawrence

The fighting qualities of those two bright young editors, Joe Richardson, of Glasgow, and Joe Lovett of Murray, as indicated by every issue of their splendid papers, come as naturally as it is for water to run down hill. Both are bred for fighters. Kentucky had more brilliant writers than dear old Jim Richardson, of blessed memory. If he had enjoyed the broad field afforded Mr. Waterson, there is little doubt that his reputation would have been just as great. And a fight was where he most delighted. Joe has all his fighting qualities and may become as brilliant a writer. No gamer little giant wears britches than John Lovett, of Benton, the father of Murray's Joe. He has never been a writer, but as a lawyer, he has long been out in front and is a leader of the bar in Western Kentucky. The soul of honor, he has an integrity that no man who knows him ever doubted or questioned. Game as a peacock, modest as a maiden, there is all the fight in him one may look for if nothing else will do. And yet he shrinks from a real scrap. The man who had the happy privilege of knowing Jim Richardson or who enjoys the acquaintance of John Lovett, can not help but admire the pluck and fight in their honored sons when occasion demands such on "best men." —Calloway Record.

Clark Would Build Hospitals at Normals

Frankfort, Ky., February 28.—Abill providing for construction of a state hospital at each of the four state normal schools and teachers colleges, was introduced in the Kentucky House of Representatives today by Rep. Lee Clark, Calloway. The bill provides for appropriations of $100,000 each hospital. The appropriation would be given over the next four year period.

The four state normal schools and teachers colleges are located at Richmond, Bowling Green, Morehead and Murray.

2-WAY PROFIT ON TOBACCO

WHEN you fertilize your tobacco with Chilean Nitrate of Soda, you can expect two distinct profits from your fertilizer investment.

1—You get much more tobacco per acre.

2—You get tobacco of distinctly better quality—cures an even burning leaf; brings a higher price.

Tobacco growers are using more and more Chilean Nitrate of Soda every year, on the recommendation of experiment stations and other tobacco authorities. It is food for tobacco plants—not a stimulant.

ON DARK OR BURLEY
Both these tobacco types show a good profit from the use of Chilean Nitrate. For instance: "Last year my burley fertilized with Chilean Nitrate, phosphate and potash, sold for $568.72 per acre, whereas burley fertilized with the same amount of phosphate and potash—but no Chilean Nitrate—sold for $457.40 per acre."

BOB BRADY, Springfield, Ky.
There is a clear increase of $111.32 per acre due to Chilean Nitrate.

Chilean Nitrate nitrogen is immediately available. It begins its good work at once, promoting fast growth and early maturity. It is the natural product, not synthetic—the world's only natural nitrate fertilizer.

Choose in Person

There are several reasons why we continue to urge the housewives of Murray and vicinity to choose their bakery goods in person at our shop.

First, they are assured of always getting fresh goods.

Second, they can see that all products are baked in the most sanitary conditions and handled cleanly.

Third, selection is greater.

We urge the ladies to come back and see our work actually done, you are always welcome.

Farm Outlook Stresses Quality Over Volume For 1930 Profits

(This statement, for use in local and county papers follows Agricultural Outlook meetings in 1930, held in preparation by the Department of Market and Rural Finance, Kentucky College of Agriculture. It is composed of conclusions drawn by economic workers of the United States Department of Agriculture, and of the different Experiment Stations from facts in the present situation that indicate future market conditions. For the sake of brevity, these basic facts are omitted, but they are on file and available at the county agents and Smith-Hughes teachers offices, in U. S. D. A. Miscellaneous Publication No. 72.)

General Conditions
Because of lower rate of business activity, the markets for most farm products are less favorable than a year ago, but the prospect is for slowly improving conditions during the year. Long term credit, fertilizer and wages are expected to be lower than last year, and it would seem that this is to be a year in which it will be profitable to emphasize quality and economy of production, rather than volume.

Hogs
Hog prices are expected to average as high as last year, or possibly higher. The seasonal price advance now in progress seems likely to continue through early spring to a point at least as high as last spring, the seasonal decline that usually follows in late spring and early summer is expected to be greater than last year; the market for the remainder of 1930 is expected to average about the same as that of 1929, except the seasonal changes will likely be more nearly normal.

The dairy situation is not as dark as present butter prices indicate, but it is not as favorable as last year. The rigid cutting out of low producing cows, and the employment of dairy practices that reduce the cost per unit of product will improve the dairyman's likelihood of profit in 1930.

Horses and Mules
Since 1920, the number of horses and mules has declined from 25 million to 19 million, and the decrease in 1929 is estimated at 525,000 head. As long as the mechanization of agriculture is able to keep pace with the decreasing number of farm animals, it is not likely that prices will make any marked advance.

Poultry and Eggs
The price of neither poultry meat nor eggs is expected to be as high as last year, but eggs are expected to compare more favorably with last year's prices than will poultry meat. New and cheap methods of turkey production have apparently permanently lowered the future levels of turkey prices.

Strawberries
Prospects for strawberry growers now seem better than that of the beginning of any year since 1926. Acreage in the United States is estimated at 1,170 acres, due to higher-than-average yields. Prices comparable to those of 1927 and 1928 are not likely to prevail in 1930, unless acreage is reduced to at least 700 acres below that of 1929.

They were, nevertheless, achieved unobscured popularity solely because they allowed the spectators to give free rein to their spirits. Nowadays we can employ the voice in connection with a more dignified humor to secure films of far higher laugh power. We see talking pictures and are demanded for catchy music, as evidenced by the steady increase in the sales of sheet music and phonograph records. As another element for the popular and ever-growing demand for the talking pictures are ideally suited: millions of persons hear a new tune within a week of its release, through the speaking screen, and a meteoric success of the songs in the recent "Vox Movietone Follies of 1929" proves the readiness with which the public accepts new melodies.

Sometimes these situations needed explanation, which then had to be made by subtitles—a method that unavoidably delayed action. "Today we handle laugh situations—usually with conversation—diminishing their need. Moreover, there is all the wide field of brilliant dialog and repartee to be exploited for additional comic emphasis. Everyone likes to laugh. The old slapstick methods, crude as

"All Talkie" "Laughter" is always more popular than tears," says Raymond Cannon, Fox Films director; "and for that reason I look to see talking pictures take the greatest successes in comedies and farces, particularly with musical backgrounds. "Cannon, whose silent technique in "Red Wine" and "Joy Street" established him as one of the most promising cinematographers, recently completed his initial talkie, the first musical farce of the speaking screen, "Why Leave Home?" an all singing, dancing adaptation of one of the star's biggest hits, "Cradle Snatchers."

Kentucky Farm Radio Program

The College of Agriculture will broadcast farm radio program from the University of Kentucky extension studios of WHAS the week of March 10. Each program will begin at 12:45, central standard time.

March 10—Sanitation and chick raising, J. E. Humphrey. Soybeans as a crop in Kentucky, Ralph Kenney.

March 12—How 4-H club champions are made, E. E. Fish. Bees, W. A. Price.

March 14—What farm folks are asking, N. R. Elliott.

Good Methods Mean Lay and Pay Pulletts
The use of good brooding methods enabled Herman Layman, a Grayson county farmer, to raise 98 per cent of the chicks he started last year. Only 3 chicks were lost of the 164 put into the brooder house. Eighty good pullets were brought to laying age at an average cost of 27 cents each. Methods employed, including ration and general management, were those recommended by the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky. Other than a wood ration, which included milk at all times, sanitation played an important part. Mr. Layman lists the most important points in developing pullets that will lay and pay as follows:

Clean chicks, clean equipment, clean feed, clean ground and clean management.

A NEW STATE CHAMPION COW
A six-year-old cow bred and owned by the Gray-Von Almen Dairy Farm at Ladysburg recently finished a test year with a production of 28,143 pounds of milk and 972 pounds of butterfat, a new Holstein-Friesian record for Kentucky. She produced 12 gallons of milk daily during a part of the year. She is a strictly bred, no-production cow, and always has been a high performer at the mil.

Children like this safe prescription
Coughs and Sore Throat Relieved Almost Instantly
Stop children's coughs and sore throats before these ailments lead to dangerous illness. A doctor's prescription, now assures relief within 15 minutes to children as well as adults without the danger in the use of patent medicines containing harmful drugs.

Thosine works on a different principle, goes direct to the source of trouble and relieves the irritation which causes the cough and sore throat. Ideal for children, because it is safe, and does not have the usual "nasty medicine" taste. No gagging. Just ask for Thosine, put up ready for use in 5c, 15c, and $1.00 bottles. Money back if not relieved. Sold by Jones Drug Co., and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

Back Quit Hurting
"I was in a very weak condition from a serious sickness," writes Mrs. I. Wilson, of 571 Joseph St., New Orleans. "I was so weak, I wanted to sleep all the time. I did not have strength to do anything. My back ached nearly all the time. I was just in misery."

"My mother told me I must arouse myself from the sleepiness, and take something to help get my strength back. She had heard of Cardui, and I decided to take Cardui, too. After my first bottle, I could see that it was helping me. I took four bottles at this time. My strength came back and I gained weight. Pretty soon, I was my old self again. My back quit hurting, and I haven't had any more trouble since I took Cardui."
